Your 2022-2023 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) was flagged for Unusual Enrollment History because you received Federal Aid funds at multiple education institutions in a four-year review period (2018-2019, 2019-2020, 2020-2021 and 2021-2022). You can review your financial aid history online at www.nslds.ed.gov and select “Financial Aid Review”. The Department of Education requires that before awarding additional Federal Aid funds, the Office of Financial Aid must confirm enrollment information reported on your FAFSA. To verify that you are eligible to receive additional Federal Aid funds for 2022-2023, SC State University will need to compare your previous enrollment history to your academic and/or financial aid records. Failure to complete the entire form and provide all necessary documentation may result in the denial of your financial aid.

Please provide a copy of your academic transcripts or grade reports from all colleges and universities previously attended during the review period. If Pell Grant funds were received and earned credit hours (passing grades: A-D) were not accrued at each institution attended during review period, you may be determined ineligible for further Federal Aid funds.

Section I - Items to submit:

- Completed Unusual Enrollment Appeal Form (Section II is required and must be completed)
- Official copies of academic transcripts

U.S. Department of Education Unusual Enrollment History Regulation (GEN-13-09)

Unusual Enrollment History Flag - N

'N' indicates that there is no unusual enrollment history and no action is required.

Unusual Enrollment History Flag – 2 (C-FLAG 359)

Review the student's enrollment and financial records to determine if, during 2018-2019, 2019-2020, 2020-2021, and 2021-2022 the student received a Pell grant at SCSU.

- Yes – no additional action is required UNLESS the student remained enrolled just long enough to collect financial aid funds. In this case, must follow the guidance provided for Flag 3.
- No – follow the guidance provided for Flag 3.

Unusual Enrollment History Flag – 3 (C-FLAG 360)

Review the student's academic records to determine if the student received academic credit at the institutions the student attended during 2018-2019, 2019-2020, 2021-2021 and 2021-2022. Based on the academic transcripts from the institutions attended, determine whether academic credit was earned during the award year in which the student received Pell funds.

- Academic Credit Earned – if the institution determines that the student earned any academic credit at each of the previously attended institutions during relevant award years, no further action is required unless the institution has other reasons to believe that the student is one who enrolls just to receive the credit balance. In such instances, the institution must require the student to provide additional documentation as outlined below. Academic Credit is considered to have been earned if the academic records show that student completed any credit hours or clock hours.
- Academic Credit Not Earned – if the student did not earn academic credit at a previously attended institution and, if applicable, at the institution performing the review, the institution must obtain documentation from the student explaining why the student failed to earn academic credit. The institution must determine whether the documentation supports (1) the reasons given by the student for the student's failure to earn academic credit; and (2) that the student did not enroll only to receive credit balance funds.

Reasons could include illness, family emergency, change in student's living arrangement, and military obligations. The institution should, to the extent possible, obtain third party documentation to support the student's claim. The financial aid administrator may choose to require the student to establish an academic plan, similar to the type of plan used to resolve satisfactory academic progress appeals.

If the student did not earn academic credit at one or more of the relevant institutions and does not provide acceptable explanation and documentation for each of those failures, the institution must deny the student any additional title IV program assistance.

If the institution denies a student continued Title IV program assistance, it must provide the student with information as to how the student may subsequently regain title IV program eligibility. Since the basis for the denial is the student's academic performance, it is expected that successful completion of academic credit would form the basis for the student's subsequent request for renewal of title IV eligibility. This could include meeting the requirements of an academic plan that the institution established with the student.
